REGIONAL HEALTH CONNECTORS

What is a Regional Health Connector?

- Regional Health Connectors (RHCs) improve health in Colorado by connecting the systems that keep us healthy - including primary care, public health, social services, and other community resources.
- RHCs are selected and hired by community-based health organizations throughout the state to work full-time on coordinating local and state resources.

What does a Regional Health Connector do?

- Connects primary care with community-based services.
- Works on projects focused on cardiovascular disease, behavioral health, and other community health needs and priorities.
- Partners with clinical quality improvement teams to help practices prepare for new models of care and reach their goals.
- Recommends reliable resources to improve health outcomes.

How do RHCs work with you?

- Connects you with partners interested in reaching similar goals.
- Engages you in projects focused on improving health, in and outside the doctor's office.
- Identifies innovative action steps for your practice or organization.
